SOUTH TEXAS BASEBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZED.

At a Tuesday meeting held in San Antonio Tuesday night a new league, composed of teams from San Antonio and surrounding communities, was organized. The newly organized group of teams will be known as the South Texas League and will be composed of the following teams: Fredricksburg, Boerne, Hondo-D'Hanis, Richter's Bakers, San Antonio Rangers, and Harlandale.

The following officers were elected: C. C. Raeder, Boerne, president; W. H. Case, Hondo, vice-president; Art Kowert, Fredricksburg, secretary-treasurer.

Twenty games will be played during the season, with each team playing 10 home games and ten away from home. Since Hondo and D'Hanis have combined their players into one team, five of the home games will be played here and five at D'Hanis.

The League opens officially on April 11th with the San Antonio Rangers playing at Boerne, Hondo-D'Hanis at Harlandale, and Fredricksburg vs. Richters at San Antonio.

The local team composed of players from Hondo and D'Hanis will have a practice game at D'Hanis next Sunday at 3 P. M., when they meet a team from Kelly Field of San Antonio.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

Good Friday—Easter. Outstanding days in the history of the world, in the realm of sacred history. The one a tragic day of suffering, death and the grave. The other a day of light and hope and new life. The first death, the second resurrection to life. The true representative of the human race, as well as God, His Son Jesus Christ makes these days so significant in the history of mankind. But it is not so much what happened, what facts took place on those days. It is much more important what these events mean to you. Does Good Friday mean redemption from sin and from the eternal death? Does Easter spell the hope and certainty of your own resurrection from the dead and life everlasting? Only then, when these things have a meaning for you, when they become an object of YOUR faith and trust, then they did not take place in vain. Only His Spirit can make them mean that for you.

Easter services Sunday, March 28th—English with Holy Communion beginning at 10:00 A. M. Sunday school and Bible classes 9:00 A. M.

Sunday, April 4th—English service at 10:30 A. M. No service on April 11th will be conducted since that is the Sunday on which the Texas District of the American Lutheran Church convenes at Pflugerville, Texas.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

We are expecting a big day Sunday. At 6 o'clock in the morning we have our sunrise service, a devotional service with special music and other numbers. We hope to have 150 present in the Church School classes. At 11 o'clock we have the special Easter service with music appropriate for the occasion. In the evening at 7:45 the Presiding Elder, Rev. J. J. Mason will preach and call to order the second quarterly conference after church. The choir has been working several weeks on music for these services. A class of boys and perhaps several adults will be received into the church Sunday morning and if the weather permits several babies will be dedicated to God in infant baptism.

CONCERNING HIGHWAY WIDENING.

Highway Engineer Maddox of San Antonio and Engineer Basse of the Highway Department were here Friday, conferring with County Judge A. H. Rothe and members of the Commissioners' Court over the matter of widening Highway No. 3 through the town of Hondo. The need for this improvement was duly impressed on the gentlemen and the court is confident of early and favorable action.

The committee having charge of the conference with railroad officials over the matter of widening the roadway through town are equally hopeful of a like favorable attitude from the railroad people when the matter is brought up for their consideration.

NOTED CHOIR SINGS IN SOUTHERN MOVIE.

One of the outstanding features of the Twentieth Century-Fox picture, "Banjo on My Knee", the attraction for Monday and Tuesday nights at the Colonial Theatre, is the very unusual music which, while basically that of the Southern Mississippi River district, is nevertheless more particularly patterned after the type of melodies which are almost the folk-songs of the shanty-boaters about whom the story revolves.

In order that this music might be correctly and impressively interpreted, Darryl F. Zanuck, in charge of production for Twentieth Century-Fox, engaged the service of the famous Hall Johnson Choir, unquestionably the finest in America. "Banjo on My Knee" co-stars Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea, and was directed by John Cromwell.

BIRY H. D. CLUB.

The Biry Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Ira Schmidt for a canning demonstration. The next meeting will be an all-day affair in which we hope to finish our foundation patterns.

QUIHI NOTES.

And it came to pass, that, when Abraham's servant heard their words, he worshipped the Lord, bowing himself to the earth. Gen. 24:52.

It was almost too good to be true; it made the servant's head swim and nearly threw him off his feet, when the answer came from Laban and Bethuel and, to be sure, from Rebekah. All's set, as if it had been planned for months. Without further ado or investigation the girl is ready for that bridal trip to Canaan, to Isaac. Not a line, a phone call, a photo, a trial trip, nothing of the kind she insists on. Naive, simple-minded, over-anxious to get going and get it over with without haggling and nagging, was she built that way? She was simply trusting in the Lord Who had it brought about that way. And how does Eliezer act over the outcome? Some lose head and nerve and control in such amazing developments, run around in a circle, open up every drawer of their chatter-box, make the wildest excursions into fairyland, tearing down every barrier of commonsense, or light out on a lonely reverie and guggle oblivion for a while. Eliezer has his own way. The right way, after all is said and considered. It might have been mere form, custom, habit without heart, had it happened only once or so. But we find him in the same attitude before. At the well, when the second chapter begins. Again, when it ends gloriously in accordance with his prayer-suggestion. And now again, when all is sunshine and roses, he worships, he bows, he gives thanks. How easy to see the Lord's leading and blessing hand. Much easier to forget about it. With Wordsworth, the Lord can often quote, "Alas! the gratitude of men hath often left me mourning. And another censures loudly, 'Ingratitude! thou marble-hearted fiend.' One out of ten that gave God praise and honor for benefits received. Once that was the proportion. Any changes for the better today? Man has become more powerful and resourceful, hath the Lord worn out His welcome? 'Acts of God' today has an unsavory by-taste. Man does not want such an act. All around, man prefers to stand on his own feet with thanksgiving to himself. And such attitude has brought the world to a pretty pass, or rather impasse.

Hearty thanks are due to a number of volunteers that helped in putting up the new fence around the church-building. Volunteers do not thrive so very much around here. Due to the climate, season or heart-action? Imagine your house on fire—and no volunteers to go into action. Some might, indeed. So stands the Lord, now and then.

And the hail almost caught the home-going crew. Looked serious for a while and at places re-planting might be necessary, yet the total damage is not worth mentioning compared with similar calamities elsewhere. The Lord is kind with us, and let us be so with Him.

Thursday, April 1st, is the date for our Ladies' Aid meet. May you all be well and ready otherwise, to attend. Bring your friends and neighbors along. They are welcome. Mrs. Luebbe Boehle, Mrs. Alfred and Mrs. Frank Boehle are the hostesses.

The triumphant Easter season closes our Lenten time. It means ever so much to heart and soul, during our sojourn through this vale of ups and downs, tears and cheers, and terminating into that valley of shadows, you and I, then, wandering alone, unless the Risen One accompanies. Look for the dates as to services and be one of the worshipers. You need Easter assurance, if anything in this life.

Announcements for March the 28th (Easter): German service at New Fountain at 10; confessional service and Holy Communion; call meeting after service. Sunday school and Junior Bible class at 9:30; English Easter service at 7:30; confessional service at 7:15; Holy Communion. The Lord still has words of eternal life.

JOHN CROUCH ON TOUR.

John Russell Crouch, crack Texas University swimmer from Hondo, left Saturday with the Longhorn undefeated Southwest Conference championship swimming team, for a tour of several states where the team is scheduled to compete in swim meets. They exhibited their skill at Fort Worth, Texas, last Saturday night and from there went to Kansas City. Other cities where the team will be on parade are Ames, Iowa, Lincoln, Nebraska, Chicago, Illinois and St. Louis, Mo. They will be gone about twenty days.

John won five firsts in the State A. A. U. meet held at Fort Worth last summer. In the Fort Worth meet Saturday he entered and won the 100-yard free style. Last minute word from John at Kansas City, Mo., was to the effect that the team was holding its record and that he won first in the 150-yard backstroke.

TO AUTO OWNERS.

With approximately 3400 vehicles affected by the registration law, car owners of Medina County have returned to the Highway Planning Survey only 148 of the post cards that were handed to them at the time they paid their 1937 automobile license fees at the office of Mr. L. E. Heath, County Tax Assessor and Collector. Car owners of Medina County have failed to respond to pleas of the Highway Planning Survey to provide information on which the highway programs of the future will be based, a tabulation of returns received to Wednesday disclosed. The number of car owners sending in information on cards received when they registered their vehicles is insufficient to provide an accurate picture of the road needs of this County. The information which is being collected will be used by the Highway Department and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in planning the future construction and maintenance of roads and highways in this County and in this section of the State. Local motorists should be sufficiently interested in improving the road system of this County to ask for these cards at the time they pay their license fees and should fill in the cards and mail them, because information collected by the Highway Planning Survey will be used in designating federal funds which soon will be spent on improving the secondary road system of Texas.

The cards on which this information is being collected are self-addressed and require no postage. The Highway Department and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads have gone to considerable trouble in order to offer highway users the opportunity of helping to plan their own roads. Just as citizens were long ago given the right to vote, car owners are now being given a similar right and should take advantage of their opportunity. It is to the advantage of each County to return at least as high a percentage of these post cards to the Highway Department as are returned by its neighboring Counties.

IMPORTANT HIGHWAY NEWS RELEASE.

"Car owners who pay their 1937 license fees late in March should take part in the highway planning work now being conducted by filling in and mailing the postage free, self-addressed post cards handed to them at the Tax Collector's Office," according to G. C. Edwards, State Manager of the Highway Planning Survey. "Motorists should guard against any tendency to neglect this valuable work during the rush and confusion of late registration, since the success of this effort to give car owners a direct chance to help plan their own highways depends on their cooperation during the days when the greatest number of cars are registered. Finally, this survey work is of major importance to most counties because the facts compiled by the several branches of the Highway Planning Survey will be used not only in forming the policies which govern the construction and maintenance of highways but also will be used in allocating future Federal and State funds that will soon be spent in improving secondary roads in many Texas counties," concluded Mr. Edwards.

The Texas Highway Department and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads are jointly sponsoring this work to obtain reliable information from each county. Medina County stands to gain materially by furnishing information to reliably portray local needs. According to a recent report only 290 of the car and truck owners in this County have returned to the Highway Department the post cards handed to them at the time of registration in the office of Mr. L. E. Heath, Tax Collector. Time yet remains for the county to make a good record of returns for itself, and its citizens should cooperate in the Highway Planning work.

MANAGING EDITOR.

Thirty-seven years ago today a country school teacher "broke into" the country newspaper game by purchase of The Anvil at Castroville. That individual was the preseat Managing Editor of this paper, and during those thirty-seven years the paper has missed only one issue. The M. E., in the meantime, has lost most of his teeth and some of his "flowing" locks but his good looks are still unimpaired, and his working hours are from waking to sleeping. ### A FIRE A MINUTE!

Don't leave small children alone at home!

Tragedy after tragedy has been recorded where an untended child has been either killed or disfigured for life by fire. A recent case is cited by the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin. A boy of four and his brother of six months were left in the house when the parents went visiting. The boy pushed the baby buggy containing his brother too close to the heating stove. A blanket caught fire, and the infant was fatally burned.

Other accounts tell of fires started by children playing with matches. In still other incidents a stove door is opened or lids lifted off by the child and fires are started. Fatal results have often followed the pouring of kerosene on a fire by a child. All small children love to play with fire, and no precaution should be overlooked in restraining them.

Parents should immediately take two steps. First, never leave your children alone at home. Second, do the simple and inexpensive things necessary to the elimination of common fire hazards. All fireplaces should be screened. Clothes should be hung at a safe distance from pipes and stoves. All heating equipment and adjuncts should be periodically inspected and overhauled. Continuous care should be taken in handling and storing inflammable liquids. Waste of all kinds, such as papers and rags, should be disposed of or stored in metal containers. The wiring of electric appliances should be checked occasionally—a frayed or twisted cord can cause short circuits followed by fire.

Every minute a fire breaks out in America. Two-thirds of all those fires occur in homes. Will your home be on that list this year—and will you and your family be subjected to a menace that may take life, due primarily to your own carelessness? —Industrial News Review.

"AUTHORITIES" THREATEN STATES' RIGHTS.

Under a bill introduced in the Senate, the United States would be literally covered by seven Federal electric "authorities" that would assume jurisdiction of the areas containing the rivers flowing into the Ohio and the Great Lakes, the Missouri, Mississippi and Arkansas territory, and the Colorado and Columbia country. No section of the country with major water resources would be missed. Centralized government control would encroach still farther on states' rights.

The state purpose of these authorities, which would be Federal corporations probably grouped under one great Federal "holding company" already suggested, is the construction of dams, reservoirs and other works in the interest of navigation, flood control, wild life protection, etc. But the bill contains this highly significant paragraph: "Should any Authority created by this Act, upon investigation, deem it advisable to recommend the development of electric power in connection with any project under its jurisdiction, it may submit such recommendations to the Congress for approval." It is reported that this paragraph will be strenuously opposed by public ownership advocates who wish the Act to permit each authority to produce power without having to secure congressional authorization.

Everyone should understand by this time that navigation and flood control are the least of the aims of the proponents of such bills as this. Their real purpose, which they veil with subtlety, is socialization of the power industry, government ownership. The current bill is simply one of many persistent attempts to attain that end.

What this means to the taxpayer—to say nothing of the utility investor whose savings may be destroyed by tax-subsidized, tax-free, Federally-financed "corporations" move in on taxing private industries—should be obvious. States and municipalities will also face serious problems as

LACOSTE LEDGERETTES.

From The LaCoste Ledger.

SPUDDING WELL NEAR D'HANIS

Jul Jagge and son, Sterley, Gabe Tschirhart and Walter Burrell from above Castroville were in LaCoste Saturday on business. Mr. Jagge and Mr. Tschirhart are drillers for the Sun Oil Company and for the last six months have been spudding wells with their standard rig to make ready for the rotary rigs that are being used by the Sun Company. A number of these spudder holes have been sunk on a strip extending from a point south of Hondo through the vicinity of D'Hanis and on toward Sabin. Along this strip the rotary rigs are operating and reports from other sources disclose some good showings of oil. The geology shows the drilling is on the structure and some of these fine mornings the country is going to wake up to find a gusher roaring and an oil field discovered over night. Just now Messrs. Jagge and Tschirhart are spudding a well below D'Hanis in a territory regarded as good oil country. The Sun Oil Company is making a most thorough test of the area, firm in the belief that oil is going to be found.

THREE LACOSTE STORES BURGLARIZED SATURDAY NIGHT.

For the second time within less than a week, burglars swooped down on LaCoste to rob two stores and the Southern Pacific station office on Saturday night last. The thieves were evidently looking for money only, for only a few broken cartons of cigarettes are missing. At the railway office the safe was opened, the inner door lock punched out and the lock on the small money box was opened to get around $22 in cash. Entrance at the LaCoste Mercantile Company was affected by cutting a circle out of the glass door with a glass cutter of some kind and lifting the bar that held the front door. . . . The door at the LaCoste Drug Company was forced with a "jimmy" bar of some kind that broke the lock off. . . . At the railway station entrance was affected by forcing the lock on the waiting room door next to the tracks and the partition door between the waiting room and the office.

Sheriff Schuehle and deputies and two special officers with the railroad company were summoned and made a careful investigation. Effort was made to get finger prints. However, officers failed to find any hot clues.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Webb and baby of New Orleans visited Mrs. Webb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biediger, here the past week-end. Mr. Webb returned to his home while Mrs. Webb remained here for a more extended visit with relatives here and in San Antonio.

Miss Myrtle Hitzfelder spent last Thursday with Mrs. Leo Etter in San Antonio.

Mrs. Adel Koehler is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Greif at Del Rio this week.

Miss Myrtle Hitzfelder and Faustina Christilles visited in Castroville last Friday.

Miss Mae Sescela from Our Lady of the Lake College in San Antonio visited with Miss Faustina Christilles here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Biediger and family, who have lived at Biry, Texas, for the past years, moved to Yorktown, Texas, the first part of the past week where they will make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Keller and family from LaPryor were the guests of homefolks here and at Castroville Sunday.

MAKE THIS A POOR YEAR FOR SCREW WORMS.

Screw worm cases in Texas decreased from an estimated 3,245,297 in 1935 to less than 200,000 in 1936, and death losses of infested animals decreased from more than 14 percent to slightly more than 9 percent, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

Division of Screw Worm Control. Rains and delayed shearing permitted a big population of screw worms to develop early in 1935. The low numbers of cases during 1936 show that good work has been done in preventing cases, but the high death rate indicates that infested animals either are not treated or that they are mistreated with harmful substances.

Any wounds on animals being handled for marking, branding and castrating should be coated with a light application of pine tar oil. Screw worm flies are not abundant at this time of the year, but warm days may bring them out. Of the flies emerging during warm periods of winter some will die without having had a chance to lay eggs, and in this way will decrease the spring population of screw worms.

The screw worm flies having an opportunity to lay eggs on wounds will provide a carry-over of the pest, and flies developing from such infestations will rapidly increase their numbers during the spring months. Wounds from branding, marking, dehorning, castrating and docking are open invitations to all screw worm flies now present.

Repel the flies and heal the injuries with a light application of dehydrated pine tar oil, specific gravity 1.065.

Screw Worm Control Supervisor Jack Berry, at Pearsall, is very anxious to get reports of all screw worm cases now occurring in this area.

Help him by notifying him or your county agent of any cases among your animals. He is trying to help you to prevent early infestations in livestock, and you are requested to give him your full cooperation.

Careful planning and judicious selection of shrubs has enabled Miss Lois Steward, special yard demonstrator of the Concord community in Williamson county, to have a yard that is a pleasure to the eye, and, according to Miss Bessie L. Vogt, the 16 varieties of flowering shrubs are always in bloom. Besides the screen planting of the flowering shrubs, Miss Steward has planted evergreens about the foundation of the house, resodded her lawn, removed scattered and unrelated shrubs from the front lawn, laid down cobblestone walks, and moved her rose from the front yard to the back where they are concentrated into an attractive rose garden.

SENIOR PLAY SCHEDULED FOR APRIL 6TH.

The cast of "April's Fool", Senior Class play, to be given the night of April 16th, is rehearsing each night (Monday through Thursday) from 7:30 until 9:30 with the anticipation of presenting a delightfully laughable version of "April's Fool" for the public on the 16th.

The story of the play is woven around the lives of the Duffys, prominent old residents of a very small town. The action of the play occurs on the golden wedding anniversary of Grandma (Jo Reilly) and Grandpa (Martin Noonan) Duffy. Their children, Homer (John Mumme), Etta (Anna Marie Saathoff), and Elizabeth Trevis (Vernell Stiegler), who departed from the ways of the small community when they became "city folks" on their return home are appalled at their parents' behavior and appearance. Particularly is Elizabeth embarrassed, because she has brought to her parents' home the wealthy Mr. Meredith Van Courtney, (Murrel Stiegler) whom she hopes her lovely daughter, April (Ginger Fusselman), will marry.

Final arrangements have been completed for the golden wedding celebration. Mrs. Daggs (Merle McCall), a nosey neighbor, has been asked to play the wedding march. Her brother, Elbert Phipps (Edmund Ney), a young theological student is to preach the golden wedding ceremony. All of the children, Van Courtney and April's other admirer, Ted Carter (J. H. Rothe), have arrived for the festivities.

The joyousness of the occasion is marred by an undercurrent of uneasiness which finally breaks out when Homer, Etta and Elizabeth state that they cannot lend their parents two thousand dollars to meet a mortgage payment. Then, too the Duffys stage one of their amusing, persistent tiffs in the middle of the commemorative ceremony, causing much displeasure to everyone. After a discussion of the situation, the only solution appears to be that grandma and Grandpa live separately with each of the children. Faced with the loss of home and a forced separation the elderly couple are heart-broken. Interwoven with the golden wedding theme is the romance between April and Ted Carter, bashful bank clerk, who is known because of his blind devotion to her, as "April's Fool". It is the same Ted who finally brings the Duffys happiness. Additional humor is furnished by Amarilla Pennypacker (Gwen Gray), the Duffy's hired girl.

Texas now has good state laws for the regulation—in the public interest—of all transportation. These laws are helping to stabilize transportation, and all business and industry that has to use transportation. These laws are helping to reduce the terrible accident toll on your highways. They are helping to conserve your investment in your highways.

without any resulting benefit to the people of Texas.

Texas railroads obey the rules of the game,—those imposed by the agencies of government and those taken on voluntarily in the interest of public safety.

Texas railroads are spending this year, large sums of money for new and modern equipment—locomotives, freight and passenger cars, improved rail and roadbed facilities, and are expediting freight and passenger schedules to meet growing public demands. All of this is being done in the interest of improved service to the public and at the lowest rates in twenty years.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS HONDO NATIONAL BANK
 March 20, 1937.

WHEREAS, Our Father in Heaven in His wisdom chose to remove from our midst our late friend and co-worker as a Member of the Board of Directors of The Hondo National Bank, Mr. P. Jungman, and, WHEREAS, it is but just and right that a fitting and proper recognition and acknowledgment of his many sterling qualities should be had; therefore be it RESOLVED by the Hondo National Bank that as we bow in deep humility to the purpose and plans of the eternal Jehovah, we do not the less deplore the removal of our friend and co-worker from our midst.

RESOLVED that in the demise of Mr. P. Jungman, the Hondo National Bank laments the loss of a friend who was always ready to tender a helping hand, and speak a kind word of sympathy and cheer to the indigent, unfortunate, and afflicted friends and associates; one who exerted every endeavor for the welfare and prosperity of the bank, to the upbuilding of his community, and to promote the best interests for the state and federal governments.

RESOLVED that we sincerely express our sympathy and condolence to the family of the deceased, and that the profound fellow-feeling of the Hondo National Bank be extended to them in their sad afflictions.

RESOLVED that these resolutions be spread upon the records of the bank, a copy thereof be sent to the grief-stricken family, and to the local papers of the county.

County Judge Arthur H. Rothe informs a representative of this paper that the Highway Department has under way a plan to improve the water outlet system at D'Hanis. Since the flood of 1935, the Railroad Company has opened up more outlet for flood waters through its road-bed through the town of D'Hanis. The Highway engineers have now worked out a plan to even up the outlets through the highway to conform with those on the railroad embankment. This improvement should add materially to the town's safety in the event of recurring floods.

At a recent meeting of the Directors of the Hondo National Bank, D. H. Fly was elected to fill the vacancy on the Board caused by the death of Mr. P. Jungman. Judge Fly was a member of the Board of Directors of the Hondo State Bank at the time of the bank consolidation a little more than a year ago.

Jos. A. Bader of Three Point and his friend, Emil Volekmann of Gordon Plains, Kansas, were business visitors to Hondo Saturday and while here paid this office a business call. Mr. Bader is pushing the sale of Electrolux Refrigerators, that marvelous machine that produces ice by application of heat.

The positions of Agent and Operator, formerly occupied by the late P. Jungman and Harry Crouch at the local depot, are being filled temporarily by G. P. Wilburn as Agent-Operator. The position will not be permanently filled until about the middle of April, it is understood when the seniority basis is expected to govern.

D. H. Page, the resident Game and Fish Warden at Medina Lake, was a business visitor to Hondo Monday and while here paid this office an appreciated call. The lake is now brimming full and considerable water is flowing over the spill-way. It presents a marked contrast from its appearance a few years ago when the water was at a record low.

After much threatening but little performance Tuesday evening the weather cleared again after a light rainfall. Some of Hondo's neighbors, however, did not fare so well. A destructive hail storm swept across the county from west to east along a strip about a mile wide a few miles north of town. It varied in scope and intensity along its course, but at Willie Britsch's place he reports his fruit crop entirely destroyed. Though considerably damaged, it is thought the young corn will survive.

MR. Durso, master of ceremonies for the Easter Sunday night "Spook Show".

IN MEMORY OF MY BELOVED
COUSIN, OTTO KARL BRUCKS.

In life we are to death so near,
That we should not grieve,
If one that was to us so dear
From us will take his leave.

So it was with dear Otto Karl.
He has left you all too soon,
Left you all here in your sorrow,
His death o'er you has cast a gloom.

He has gone from you forever,
And you no more will see him here,
You think there is no greater sorrow,
For to you he was so dear.

Indeed he was so dear to you,
It's hard, so very hard,
Indeed you all loved him so true,
And yet you had to part.

Now your hearts are sore and weary,
But it will not be for aye,
Though now all is dark and dreary,
There'll come a gladsome day.

Once there'll be a glad tomorrow,
And you'll see him face to face,
From your hearts you'll banish sorrow.

When your dear one you'll embrace,
By a cousin who loved him dearly.

"For the lowest price group the increase in sales was 17.5 per cent;
for the lower intermediate group, 24 per cent; the upper intermediate group 33.5 per cent, and in the high-

THE WAY OF SALVATION.
By Rev. J. T. Horger.
ARTICLE NO. 23.

In a few thoughts from Paul's epistle to the Colossians. Col. 1:13-14, we have a reference to Christ and His saving grace, most wonderful: "Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and have translated us into the kingdom of his dear son." This is spoken of the act of the Father in delivering us out of the power of sin and Satan, into the kingdom of His dear Son. This is true, touching the preparation made for the salvation of the whole world in Christ; but more thoroughly true of those who have accepted the preparation and are actually saved. "In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins." The next five verses speak of the image and glory of Christ. Saying, that Christ is the express image of God; and that God, by and through Him, created all things that are in heaven or earth, whether they be thrones or dominions, principalities or powers; all things were made BY Him and FOR Him. And on down through Col. 1:17-20, we learn that God created all things in Heaven and earth through Christ, and now proposes to re-create the believers into a spiritual kingdom by Christ, through the executive power of the Holy Spirit, the church, as a spiritual kingdom, which is now being created BY and FOR Him to all eternity. What a wonderful and glorious Savior, who redeems us by "the washing of regeneration and the renewing of the Holy Ghost."

We now turn to Col. 2:9-15, speaking of Christ again, Paul says: "For in him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily. And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power." Now the one blessing theory holds that the new birth puts us COMPLETELY in Christ; but the "Second Blessing" theory, which I believe to be clearly scriptural, holds that the new birth puts us in possession of only part of the process of salvation; and the baptism with the Holy Ghost, which the Scriptures show must be received as a SECOND WORK of grace, brings us into FULL SALVATION. Next we continue, Col. 2:11-12. "In whom also ye are circumcised with the circumcision made without hand, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh by the circumcision of Christ; buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead." The above tells us that after we are in Christ in the regenerate measure that we are to be spiritually circumcised, which puts off the body of the sins of the flesh. In Rom. 6:6 Paul, referring to the same body of sin, carnal mind, and also the same process of its destruction, but calls it a crucifixion instead of circumcision; but the same work of grace is referred to in each case. We quote Rom. 6:6: "Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin."

Now if you will read Rom. 6:1-6 and also Col. 2:12, you will find that the process by which this body of the sins of the flesh is put off, crucified and destroyed, is the baptism with the Spirit, which is also reckoned not only the power by which the heart is circumcised, the old man crucified, the body of sin destroyed, but this spiritual baptism also buries the old man out of sight, where he will neither be seen nor stink any more. And also this baptism in the same act that buries the old man, raises up the new man to higher heights and wider extensions of the life of Christ in the believer. Just as Christ, when crucified, dead and buried, rose to a greater, more sublime and more useful life, even likewise does the carnally minded regenerate, when crucified, dead and buried with Christ by the baptism with the Holy Ghost, also rises to a divine life far more extensive, satisfactory and useful in the cause and kingdom of God.

We turn next to Col. 3:1-17. I remember, several articles back, when I had outlined the experience of the new birth, I turned to these same ten verses and held them up as a standard by which the regenerate should pattern their lives. And now I turn to them as the pattern of the sanctified life. Well, while the manne and conduct of the life generally lived by the merely regenerate and that of the truly sanctified, are wide apart, yet the standards of the moral, benevolent, charitable and devotional life laid down in the word of God are exactly the same for the merely regenerate, as that for the wholly sanctified; therefore, we see the propriety of obtaining the equipment of sanctification in order to meet the scriptural standards of the Christian life. So we take up again Col. 3:1-17. "If ye then be risen with Christ"—either in the regenerate or sanctified life—"seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, and not on things on earth. For ye are dead"—or ordained of God to be dead—"and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then ye also shall appear with him in glory." Thus be, and do, that we may be ONE with Him when He comes. "Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth. Fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry; for which things sake, the wrath of God cometh upon the children of disobedience." When you read the last two verses above don't forget that all manner of worldly devotions are defined in God's word as Spiritual idolatry, fornication, adultery and uncleanness, and let us clean up. "In the which ye also walked some time, when ye lived in them. But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth. Lie not to one another, seeing ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him: where there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free; but Christ is all, and in all. Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercy, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, long suffering; forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye. And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfection. Col. 3:16-17, "Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms, and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord. And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him." This is perhaps one of the most sublime outlines, for both the negative and the positive conduct of the Christian life, to be found in the Holy Scriptures. The Christian religion lays down for our observance and practice, the most profound and sublime moral laws, rules and regulations, ever given the human race and then through and by the plan of salvation, wrought out by the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, God proposes to transform us into the image and likeness of Christ, in righteousness and true holiness, and grant unto us power, by which we may obey every precept and commandment laid down in His Holy Word. Thus we are redeemed through the riches of His grace.

DUNLAY H. D. CLUB MEETS.

Members of the Dunlay Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. John Hutzler on March 3rd, where the first canning demonstration was given by Miss Hawkins. The members were instructed how to pack and can carrots, and the uses of various types of cookers. Again on March 17th another meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Breiten. Our council delegate gave a very good report of the last council meeting. The ladies of our club also made arrangements for a minstrel play to be given at the Dunlay hall. Several matters of interest were brought up before this meeting. It is hoped that the members will try to put the play through to a success. Further announcements for the play will be made later.

Of all the millions of people who have bought used cars from Chevrolet dealers, probably few are so well satisfied with their purchase as Roy Koontz, of Bloomington, Ind., who recently bought a used car for $150 from the University Chevrolet Company of that city. After getting his car home, he happened to find a dime that had fallen down behind the seat cushion.

Koontz was only mildly pleased by this lucky find, but his interest picked up when he noticed that the coin was dated 1821. That was a bit unusual. A friend of his happened to be somewhat of a coin specialist and he mentioned the fact to him.

The payoff came when the specialist, after a bit of investigation, informed him that the coin had a coin market value of $450. So now Mr. Koontz is firmly convinced that Chevrolet dealers truly offer more for your money.

Explosion Kills More Than 600 Children in Texas Rural School—Justice McReynolds' Rebuke to Critics of Supreme Court.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD © Western Newspaper Union.

THE east Texas oil field was the scene of the worst school disaster in history. The London Consolidated rural school, a few miles north of Henderson, was demolished by a tremendous gas explosion and more than 600 children and their teachers were killed.

The horror that followed wrought such confusion that Gov. James V. Alfred declared martial law in the vicinity of the school, and ordered National Guard troops to the scene. He previously had ordered all state highway patrolmen in the area to proceed there.

President Roosevelt, hearing at Warm Springs about the horrible disaster, was most distressed and urged the Red Cross "and all of the government agencies" to stand by and render every assistance possible. Albert Evans, flood disaster head in Little Rock, Ark., and his staff rushed to the stricken Texas town, and all communities within reach gave aid to the extent of their capacity.

The blast smashed to bits the main structure of the educational plant that was termed the largest rural school in America and the richest in the world.

About 740 children and 38 teachers were in the building at the time and nearly all who were not killed outright were injured. Of the latter it was believed many would not recover.

Fifty or more mothers of the young victims were attending a parent-teacher association meeting in the school gymnasium, a separate building, when the explosion came, sending the mangled bodies of their sons and daughters flying through the air. The women raced to the wrecked structure with screams of agony and tore at the ruins with their bare hands.

For a few minutes after the roof caved in, leaving jagged remnants of wall standing like the ruins of a medieval castle, flames shot out above the wreckage. But the building was of fireproof construction and the blaze, having almost nothing to feed upon, soon died out.

W. C. Shaw, superintendent of the school, whose son was one of those killed, had just left the building.

"I was standing about fifty feet away from the building when the explosion came," he said. "There wasn't much noise. The roof just lifted up, then the walls fell out and the roof fell in. It was all over in a minute, no less than that, half a minute. It's unbelievable."

Highway police, National Guardsmen and workers from all the nearby oil wells managed to restore some semblance of order at the scene, roping off the campus and systematically carrying on the task of getting out the bodies of the dead.

From the oil well machine shops were brought acetylene torches to burn away the steel girders while trucks hauled on heavy iron chains, pulling the debris away from the building.

The great force of the blast was taken as proof that the disaster was caused by the ignition of natural gas which was used to heat the school plant. Unable, because of all the confusion, to ascertain the cause of the explosion, it was theorized that someone attempted to light a heater which accidentally had been left turned on.

The "wet gas" used, which comes from oil wells on the school campus, is odorless and so would have given no warning.

EVIDENCE of good sportsmanship is to accept the outcome when one has had a chance to present a fair case to a fair tribunal, said Associate Justice James C. McReynolds of the Supreme court in an extemporaneous talk at a fraternity banquet in Washington.

It was the first time a member of the court had expressed his views on relationship of the court to the government since the President made his proposal for packing the tribunal, and opponents of that plan were encouraged to hope other of the justices might be induced to appear before the senate judiciary committee and tell what they think of it. Justice McReynolds, who is seventy-five years old, has voted against the New Deal fourteen times and for it twice.

Near the end of his talk the justice said: "I should like to be optimistic. I should like to tell you that the situation is rosy. I can't. But I like to believe in the courage of the American people, and I hope they may make a solution of which they may be proud."

Edward S. Corwin, professor of constitutional law at Princeton, was heard by the senate committee in support of the President's bill and he got along very nicely until Senator Burke, leader of the opposition, called his attention to a speech the professor made a year ago and a book he wrote 25 years ago, in both of which he expressed views quite different from those he seemingly now holds. Then Senator Tom Connally took a hand in the questioning.

"Now you say the court is biased. You want to add six new justices who will be biased in the other direction, don't you?"

Professor Corwin evaded a direct answer for some time, but Senator Connally demanded to know whether he did not support the President's plan for this purpose.

"Well, that is one of the reasons," the witness said.

The American Federation of Labor, like its opponent, the C. I. O., has favored the President's court plan, though rather mildly, but President William Green, when he appeared before the senate committee, was even less emphatic in his approval of it. He denied that the court as now constituted "has assumed dictatorial power or that its members have not the mental capacity or the necessary learning."

Senator Wheeler said he was under pressure from organized labor because of his position against the Roosevelt program, but he declared he would not change. He said Maj. George L. Berry, the President's co-ordinator for industrial co-operation and also head of labor's Non-partisan League, "has had a man traveling through Montana at government expense stirring up activity against me."

SENATORS indulged in an indignant debate concerning the sit-down strike and there were demands for a congressional investigation of this new weapon of labor.

Majority Leader Joe Robinson said: "Manifestly the sit-down strike is unlawful. It is not within the rights of any individual or group of individuals to seize or retain possession of property to the exclusion of the employer for the purpose of enforcing demands against the employer."

However, he added, it was difficult for the federal government to do anything in the matter until the Supreme court has passed on the validity of the Wagner-Connery labor relations act.

Senator Johnson of California gave a "general warning" that the sit-down strike is the most ominous thing in our national life today, bad for the government and in the long run worse for labor.

The Democratic senate whip, Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, vehemently criticized sit-down tactics of labor and demanded investigation by congress. "Is the United States a government?" Lewis asked. "Every form of commerce is being torn apart under the name of controversy between employer and employee, leading to the danger of national riots."

SIT-DOWN strikers, ordered by Circuit Judge Allen Campbell of Detroit to evacuate the Chrysler plants, defied the court when the writ of injunction was served on them and declared they would remain "to the death." The sheriff said he had done his full duty until he received further instructions from the court and the judge was awaiting application from the Chrysler lawyers for writs of contempt.

Meanwhile Gov. Frank Murphy, who had hurried home from Florida, set up a committee to conciliate the many strikes in that area and to devise a legislative program to dispose of future labor disputes. Rev. Frederic Siedenburg, S. J., executive dean of the University of Detroit, was named chairman of the committee. It has twenty-three members drawn from representatives of civic, industrial, religious and labor institutions.

Since the committee was limited to four members for labor, Homer Martin, international president of the United Automobile Workers of America, the union waging the city's outstanding strikes against Chrysler Corporation and Hudson Motors, rejected the governor's invitation to U. A. W. A. membership on the committee.

AMELIA EARHART left Oakland, Calif., in her "flying laboratory" for what promises to be the greatest adventure of her adventurous life—a 27,000 mile flight around the world, following generally the equator. Her first hop of 2,400 miles took her to Honolulu. With her in the Lockheed Electra twin motored plane were Capt. Harry Manning and Fred Noonan, navigators, who were to leave the plane at Hawaii, and Paul Mantz, Amelia's technical adviser, who was to continue with her to Darwin, northern Australia.

MARRINER S. ECCLES, chairman of the Federal Reserve board, started something when he issued a warning against the dangers in inflationary price rises, which are due, he says, chiefly to foreign armament demands, strikes and monopolistic practices by certain groups in both industry and organized labor. He argued for continuance of low interest rates but said the budget should be balanced and taxes on incomes and profits should be raised, if necessary, "to sustain the volume of relief and at the same time bring the budget into balance and permit the paying down of public debt as private debt expands."

The federal reserve system, said Mr. Eccles, "is powerless to maintain a stable economy unless other essential nonmonetary factors necessary to stability are brought into line either by private interests or by the government."

This statement, presumably made with the approval of Secretary Morgenthau and the knowledge of President Roosevelt, aroused a lot of talk in Washington and the administration leaders were discussing taxes and receipts. Generally they agreed that there will be no extensive tax change—merely a resolution in June extending for one year $400,000,000 in "nuisance" levies. It may be the Eccles warning will serve to curb the demands of various department heads and congressmen for more huge appropriations.

POPE PIUS in a long encyclical condemned communism as "the ruin of family and society" and called on Christian employers everywhere to combat it by recognizing "the inalienable rights of the working man." He accused the communists of having played upon the susceptibility of the working classes with promises of alleviation of "many undeniable abuses."

THAT controversy between Mayor La Guardia of New York and the German Nazis degenerated into a riot of abusiveness on both sides. German Ambassador Luther again asked and received an apology from Secretary Hull after La Guardia had called Reichsfuehrer Hitler "satisfaktionsfähig"—a man without honor. And Mr. Hull politely expressed his weariness with the whole squabble. In Berlin Ambassador Dodd was telling Foreign Minister Neurath that the anti-American campaign in the German press should be stopped, and both those diplomats were pictured as ready to call it all off.

MADELINE LA FERRIERE, a beautiful Parisienne, stirred up a pretty scandal when she shot and slightly wounded Count Charles de Chambrun, former French ambassador to Italy. The young woman asserted the count had caused her to lose the love of a "great Italian" man of state whose affections she had won in recent interviews. She has made many trips to Rome, where she was received in diplomatic society, and is known to have been granted several interviews by Premier Benito Mussolini. Paris papers did not mention Mussolini, but the London Daily Mirror did not hesitate to say that he was the "great Italian" involved.

REMINGTON RAND, INC., large manufacturer of office equipment, was accused by the federal labor relations board of violating the Wagner-Connery act and of using "ruthless" methods in trying to break the strike of 6,000 workers in six of its plants. The corporation was ordered to cease alleged interference with union activities of its employees; to bargain collectively with a majority of its workers; to reinstate strikers without discrimination and to withdraw support of so-called "company unions" in its Elion, N. Y., and Milledale, Conn., plants.

WARSHIPS of Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany started the naval patrol along the coasts of Spain designed to isolate the civil war as provided for by the neutrality agreement entered into by 27 nations. The two latter nations are guarding the government coast and the two former the Fascist shore line. Ships going to Spain are required to halt at designated ports for inspection and agents of the international committee will either certify that no arms or volunteers are aboard, or will accompany the vessels to Spain.

THE Creusot works of the famous old Schneider armaments firm in France has been expropriated by the French government and formal possession will be taken by decree. Everything in the workshops and stores of the firm which has to do with the manufacture of arms—tools, machinery, and stocks—will be taken over.

DR. ELIHU THOMPSON, one of the country's famous inventors, a contemporary and friend of Thomas A. Edison, died in Swampscott, Mass., at the age of eighty-four. His scientific discoveries and inventions were numerous, but he is perhaps best known as the discoverer of electric welding and the inventor of the centrifugal cream separator and the centrifuge, an instrument used in biological laboratories.

UNDECIDED

By

BARBARA A. BENEDICT

"I HOPE," said Susan Barrows, "that you're not going to do anything rash—like killing yourself."

"No," said Ned Libby. "I'm not going to do anything rash—like killing myself."

His eyes flashed angrily. "Not over you, I'm not."

"Which is why," said Susan, "I can't make up my mind about marrying you."

Ned stared incredulously. "Do you mean that the reason you've been refusing me all these months is because I haven't gone out and tried to kill myself?"

"Don't be ridiculous," said Susan. "I mean, it's your temper. Every time I act undecided, you get mad. And every time you get mad, I become more undecided. Funny, isn't it?"

"Maybe it's funny to you. But not to me. I'm quite serious. Or have been up to now."

"Up to now?"

"Up to now. I guess you've let me know pretty well where I stand. My only regret is that you didn't tell me long before this."

"But, Ned, how could I tell you? I didn't know."

Ned ignored the remark. He said: "But don't flatter yourself that I'll do anything rash—like killing myself. I'm too smart for that. I can take it, and I don't need sympathy, either."

"Oh, Ned," Susan began.

But Ned was half way down the walk.

He didn't glance back, but climbed into his coupe and drove away in something of a rush.

A sad, hurt look came into Susan's eyes. She turned slowly away, went into the house and up to her room.

She sat on the edge of her bed and stared at the telephone on its stand nearby. She was thinking: "In about five minutes Ned will be home and I could call him and—tell him that—"

She broke off in her thoughts, and a determined look came into her eyes. But she didn't stop thinking of Ned. Memory of the expression on his face as he had left the house was faintly disturbing.

What if he should do something—rash? Not purposely, but because he was angry and would therefore be careless about his own safety.

An involuntary shudder shook her frame. She closed her eyes, trying to shut out the vision.

She'd been a fool, telling him she was undecided. Why, she wasn't any more undecided than—than—

The ringing of the telephone bell jerked her back to the present. She opened her eyes, staring at it a little fearfully.

It rang again and she reached out for the instrument. "Hello?" she said.

A man's voice answered. She recognized it at once as belonging to Norm Lacey, Ned's best friend.

Norm was greatly excited and a little incoherent.

"Susan? This is Norm. You'd better come down here quick. It's Ned. He's hurt, and he's called for you. Run into our gatepost and upset. We've—"

Susan banged up the receiver.

She ran down the stairs, two at a time, fled from the house without thinking to grab up wrap or hat.

Norm lived a block away. As she raced down the street, Susan guessed what had happened. Ned had decided to stop by and talk things over with Norm. He'd been thinking of her, perhaps driving a little fast. Too late, he'd realized the proximity of the gatepost.

She turned in at Norm Lacey's driveway, glimpsed Ned's car on the lawn, caught her breath in a little frightened gasp; and rushed on toward the house.

Ned was lying on the couch in the living room.

The bandage around his head was smeared with red.

Norm was bending over his still form.

"Ned! Ned!" Susan brushed past Norm, took Ned into her arms. "Oh, Ned, darling, why did you do it? Why? Why? Didn't you know that I loved you?"

She kissed him and a sob caught in her throat.

"Ned! Ned! Oh, my darling, speak to me!"

But Ned only lay still and unresponsive.

Susan turned a wretched and appealing face up to Norm.

"Oh, can't you do something? Isn't there anything we can do?"

"I've sent for the doctor," Norm said.

Tears streamed down Susan's cheek. She turned back to the man on the couch.

"Oh, darling, don't die! Please don't die, for if you do, I shall want to die, too. . . . Ned, speak to me, it's Susan. I love you so. . . . It's all my fault. I was such a little fool to— not to say I'd marry you when I wanted to so badly. . . . Ned, darling, I love you so."

At this point Ned opened one eye and said:

"You're sure about that?"

Susan was too overjoyed at hearing his voice to grasp the significance of its suddenness and casualness.

"I mean every word, darling. Just don't die and I'll marry you any time you say."

"All right," said Ned. "In that case I won't die."

He sat up.

"Norm, call up Parson Wimple and ask him to stop over here, will you?"

"Sure," said Norm, and left the room, taking with him a bottle of catsup which he'd been holding.

Susan's mouth was open and her eyes were wide.

"Ned Libby!"

Ned grinned and kissed her.

"Now, honey, don't get mad. You know how you feel about people who lose their tempers."

"You weren't hurt at all! It was a trick! That's catsup on your face!"

"Now wait a minute, darling. I did hit the gatepost, and for a minute felt pretty giddy. Norm helped me into the house, and while I was lying here I began to wonder if you'd care much if I really were hurt badly. I asked Norm to call you and—suggested that he get some catsup."

"You certainly make it sound quite casual. And all the time I was taking on because I thought you were going to die, you were laughing at me."

"If I laughed, it was out of sheer joy. Sweet, you sounded sincere. Doesn't it make you happy to know I'm alive and well again?"

"I—I'm not sure."

"You're undecided, eh?" said Ned.

Susan pouted her lips. "Quite," she said.

Whereupon Ned grinned broadly.

"In the past ten minutes," he said, "I've learned that when the girl you love acts undecided, the thing to do is to make up her mind." And he kissed her again, which according to Susan's reaction, was the proper thing to do.

die, for if you do, I shall want to die, too. . . . Ned, speak to me, it's Susan. I love you so. . . . It's all my fault. I was such a little fool to— not to say I'd marry you when I wanted to so badly. . . . Ned, darling, I love you so."

"Ned Libby!"

Ned grinned and kissed her.

"Now, honey, don't get mad. You know how you feel about people who lose their tempers."

"You weren't hurt at all! It was a trick! That's catsup on your face!"

"Now wait a minute, darling. I did hit the gatepost, and for a minute felt pretty giddy. Norm helped me into the house, and while I was lying here I began to wonder if you'd care much if I really were hurt badly. I asked Norm to call you and—suggested that he get some catsup."

"You certainly make it sound quite casual. And all the time I was taking on because I thought you were going to die, you were laughing at me."

"If I laughed, it was out of sheer joy. Sweet, you sounded sincere. Doesn't it make you happy to know I'm alive and well again?"

"I—I'm not sure."

"You're undecided, eh?" said Ned.

Susan pouted her lips. "Quite," she said.

Whereupon Ned grinned broadly.

"In the past ten minutes," he said, "I've learned that when the girl you love acts undecided, the thing to do is to make up her mind." And he kissed her again, which according to Susan's reaction, was the proper thing to do.

QUICK BREADS NUTRITIOUS
AS WELL AS ECONOMICAL

Home-made bread is the most satisfying, the best tasting, the most fragrant, the most nourishing and the most economical food in the world.

Every mother should make bread at home not only to please her family's palate and to save money but to give her youngsters a nutritious, wholesome food.

In addition to making yeast breads and rolls there are so many delicious quick breads that the housewife can quickly make. To make these quick breads, time, money and ingredients can be saved by using self-rising flour which is pre-leavened or prepared flour. Who doesn't like nut bread or for a change orange bread?

For nut bread proceed as follows:

1/4 cup sugar 1 cup milk
2 tbsp. fat 1 cup nut meats
1 egg broken in small
1 1/2 cups self-rising pieces
flour

Place the sugar, fat and egg in a bowl; beat until thoroughly blended; add the flour and liquid alternately, then add the nuts; pour into a greased bread pan, and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) about fifty minutes.

Quick Breads Are Easily Made.

GRASS IS NATURE'S MILK-MAKING GIFT

"Milk-making pasture is nature's gift to the dairymen," says W. R. Arends, well-known Purina dairy authority. Dairymen are always anxious to see spring grass, for they know they will see its effect in a fuller milk pail.

Frequently, though, pasture gets dairymen into trouble. Arends points out. "They expect too much of it. As a matter of fact, they depend on grass to do the entire job of feeding cows. For a while, they get plenty of milk, but as the pasture season goes on the cows gradually become run down in condition. The result is that when fall rolls around the cows are not only down in flesh but off in milk production. It usually requires double the amount of grain to get them built up again."

"There is, however, a right way to take advantage of Nature's gift. First of all, cows should not be turned out on the young grass too soon. Give the grass a fair chance to get well rooted to withstand the trampling of the cows and furnish an abundance of nutrients for a longer stretch of time."

Keep Up Body Weight

"Another thing," says Arends, "with his cows on pasture the wise dairymen feeds just enough of a balanced grain ration to keep up the body weight of his cows. Usually the amount is only one-half the amount fed in winter with dry roughage. Handling cows this way keeps them up in body weight and assures good milk production in the fall when prices are highest."

In talking about actual tests of feeding cows on pastures, Arends cites research work done at the Purina Experimental Farm in Gray Summit, Mo. He tells of cows eating 40 to 50 lbs. of green grass daily, but getting no grain, losing 200 lbs. of body weight in 3 months' time. On the other hand, cows given a balanced grain ration to supplement their pasture actually gained in weight and held up in milk production.

While on pasture, light breeds such as the Jersey and Guernsey, should get 1 lb. of grain for each 6 lbs. of milk and the larger breeds should get a pound of the grain ration for each 7 to 8 lbs. of milk, according to Arends. He points out that as the pasture gets shorter the grain ration should be stepped up.

Dry Pastures Need Help

"During hot weather or severe drouth, cows should be given a gallon of bulky-las night and morning, in addition to their grain ration." He says soaking it increases its succulence and advises the adding of 1 gallon of water to each gallon of bulky-las.

"In looking forward to the pasture season," Arends says, "Dairymen should keep in mind that pasture is either grass plus a balanced grain feed or grass plus cow flesh. It's far cheaper and safer to give cows a grain ration on grass right from the start than try to make up for the mistake later on when the cows become run down in condition."

PLENTY OF WATER
NEEDED BY CHICKS

Poultry Authority Advises Ample Hopper and Fountain Space for Results.

"Chicks need plenty of fresh, clean water," advises C. S. Johnson, head of the Poultry Department of the Purina Mills. "Provide a one-gallon drinking fountain for each 50 chicks. Keep the fountains filled at all times. To aid in preventing disease, add to each gallon of drinking water, one-half level teaspoon of Chlorox Powder, obtainable wherever Checkerboard feeds are sold."

"When chicks are 3 or 4 weeks old, they outgrow the chick size feed hoppers. These should be replaced with larger hoppers and more of them. A 4 weeks old chick is more than twice as broad as a baby chick, therefore it needs more than twice as much room. They need extra watering space at this age, too."

Provide a one-gallon drinking fountain for each 50 chicks. Keep fountains filled at all times.

"Keep feed hoppers and drinking fountains clean. Disinfect daily with a solution of 2 level measuring spoons of Chlorox Powder to 3 gallons of water. Lift the litter lightly with a fork at intervals during the brooding period so that droppings will sift to the bottom."

"Old litter should always be removed and the brooder house cleaned and disinfected with creosote solution before brooding a second lot of chicks in the same quarters."

Medina County Homes Take a Liberal Supply of the Ever Popular Electrolux Refrigerator

MORE THAN 30 ELECTROLUX REFRIGERATORS PLACED IN MEDINA COUNTY.

The past year probably set a record for the sale of Electrolux Refrigerators in Medina County, according to Joe A. Bader, Electrolux dealer at Castroville, who reports more than $10,000 worth of these money-saving Electrolux Refrigerators sold in Medina County during that year. Mr. Bader has installed Electrolux Refrigerators in the following homes:

Albert Tschirhart

He would be glad to have you ask any of the above persons if ELECTROLUX is worth the money. The farmer and ranchman may have the same conveniences enjoyed in the cities by installing a kerosene or gas burning Electrolux. These refrigerators operate on a fuel cost of from 3 to 4 cents a day. One farmer kept beef fresh for five weeks. Another put beef in his refrigerator on the 18th of December and still had some of it left last week.

Look for the billboard signs telling about Electrolux on the highways and country roads, suggests Mr. Bader.

evident that the railroads are facing a serious dilemma.

As the New York Times points out: "Average railroad wages are already higher than those prevailing in 1929. A 10 per cent wage reduction was made in 1932, but wages were fully restored to their levels on April 1, 1935. Last November the average hourly earning of all wage-earners on Class 1 railroads was 69 1-2 cents, compared with an average of 64 1-2 cents in 1929."

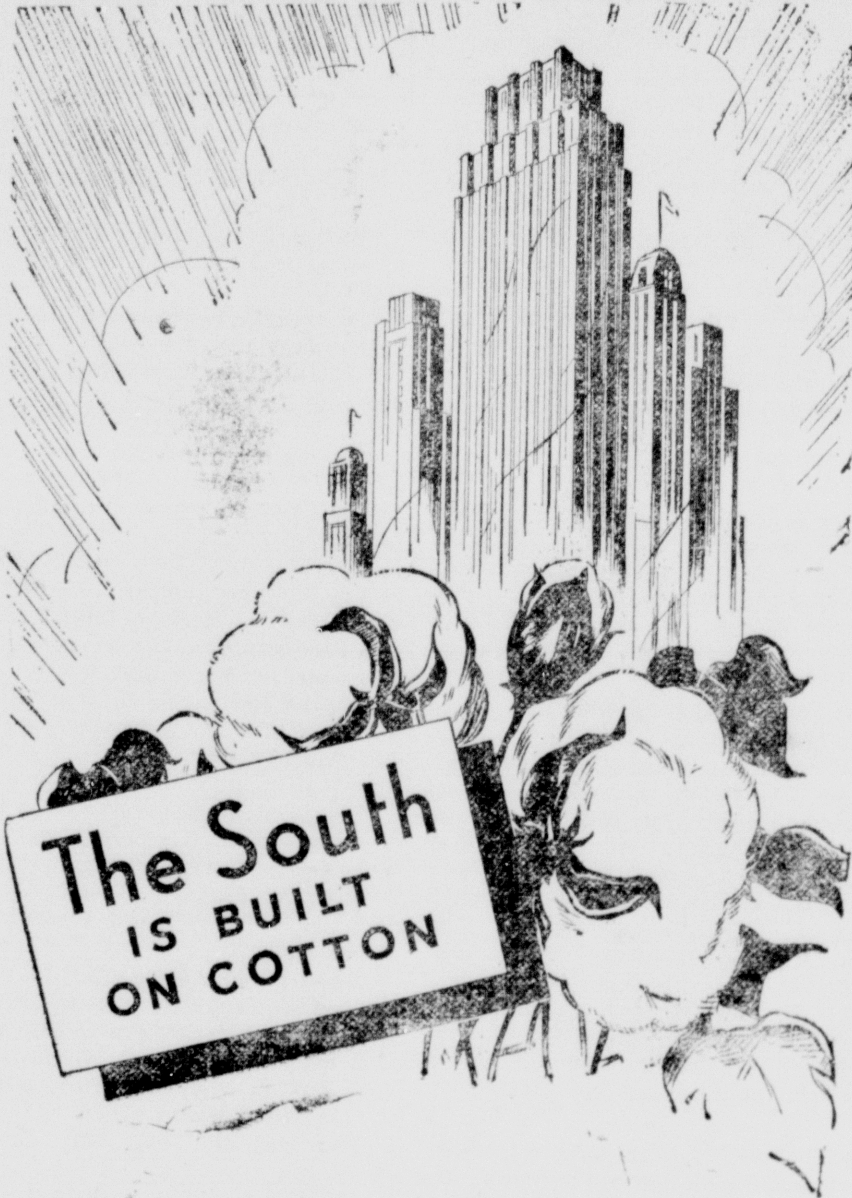

The privilege to organize and bargain collectively under a constitutional form of government has enabled American labor to ask, and receive the highest wages and the best working conditions in the world today. And now it is only fitting that labor should share in the fruits of returning prosperity. However, abuse of a privilege eventually destroys the privilege itself.

Labor should bear in mind that if it forces the railroads to accept unreasonable demands, bankruptcy will result. The way will then be clear for government ownership and operation, and it is almost impossible for labor or industry to bargain successfully and in a peaceful manner with a bureaucratic and monopolistic form of government—politics simply kills individual opportunity.—Industrial News Review.

THE COTTON SITUATION

Cotton growers, ginners, merchants, cottonseed crushers, and others involved are recognizing the problem of developing a sound cotton policy for Texas as one primarily of common interest and deserving of coordinated effort, and not one of group conflicts. Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research and internationally known cotton economist, asserted in discussing the proposed policy.

"The cotton industry taken as a whole is far the greatest source of employment in Texas," Dr. Cox said. "Normally, nearly five hundred thousand of the gainfully employed in Texas, or over one-fifth of all employed people, were engaged in the production and harvesting of cotton. Even the hauling of the normal cotton crop in Texas from the farms

By Clayton Rand

One might truthfully say that the wealth of this nation is built on cotton, for export cotton has been the most important factor in creating a favorable balance of trade between this and other nations for over a century.

While the sale of other products of the soil has been promoted through print, the South has neglected to push the use of its own product among its own people.

We know little about the hundred and one uses to which cotton has been put—less about the far-reaching influence it has had upon our happiness and well-being.

USE MORE COTTON

to the gins is the equivalent of some $2,000,000 in labor. The average labor cost for ginning a bale of cotton is about $2.50—which means over $11,000,000 for the average Texas crop prior to controlled production. Labor costs in merchandising a bale of cotton will average at least a dollar per bale; so merchandising costs for a year's crop will amount to about $4,500,000. No figures are available to show the amount of employment or wages in compressing, warehousing, and transporting a bale of cotton. Best estimates available indicate a direct labor cost of about $2 per bale for these items, or about $9,000,000 worth of labor for a year's crop.

"In 1929 Texas produced 2,766,000 tons of cottonseed; of this, 1,720,000 bushels were crushed, and the products had a total value in excess of $87,000,000. On an average the labor cost of crushing a ton of cottonseed amounts to about $3.50 and wages and salaries paid to employees amount to over $5,000,000 annually.

"Furthermore, cottonseed and cottonseed meal, cakes, and hulls constitute the major source of concentrated feed supply for the Texas live stock industry. The manufacture of cottonseed oil into cooking commodities is coming to be an important business in the State. No mention has been made of cotton manufacturing, of which Texas has 27 plants which give employment to about five thousand people. The value of their product in 1929 was over $18,000,000.

"Facts presented so far by no means exhaust the direct and indirect contributions the cotton industry in its various phases makes to the employment and wealth of the people of Texas, but are they not enough to challenge the best thought and energy of the people to preserve the fullness of this industry on a profitable base in all its phases?"

"Texas' farm lands are its greatest natural resource; and because of environmental and other factors, cotton culture is the backbone of the type of agriculture which offers the most effective use of the resources as well as employment for the people of the State.

"These and other facts show that cotton culture in this State should be put on as firm and permanent a base as is possible by the people of Texas."

He suggested that, as an emergency measure, Federal funds should be used to develop a sound cotton policy centered around the improvement of farm management practice to conserve soil, lower production costs, and improve the quality of cotton.

"Because of the overwhelming importance of raw cotton production in Texas, the welfare of that phase of the industry deserves major consideration," he went on. "Cotton growers produce cotton as a means of securing money income. Gross income is a product of volume of pro-

WILL IT HAPPEN HERE.

One of the most heartening events of the time is the manner in which "liberals" are rallying to the support of the United States Supreme Court. To say that no man past seventy is fit for high judicial office is to dispute the clear evidence of history. If that theory is accepted, it should be applied as a matter of principle to senators, representatives, governors and presidents.

Liberals realize that such so-called "practical" arguments for change in the court are simply window-dressing.

Real liberals who wish our individual rights protected and our liberties maintained unabridged—are opposing the court proposal on questions of principle. In the words of Walter Lippman, himself a liberal, "This is so reactionary a proceeding that nothing like it has been attempted in the whole history of this nation. This is the sort of thing that is done in backward countries which have not yet learned the art of self-government. That is where great issues are settled by ousting men from office, rather than by the consent of the people after open debate. But it has never happened here, and, if the people are allowed time to understand, they will make sure that it shall not happen here."—Industrial News Review.

RAILROAD DILEMMA.

Railroad employees are requesting pay raises totaling $360,000,000 annually. The request has been presented in spite of the fact that net income of Class 1 Railroads in 1936 amounted to only $150,000,000, and of this amount the "emergency freight rates" recently terminated by the Interstate Commerce Commission, accounted for $120,000,000. It is
